PRESS RELEASE

SUSAN PASINT-MAGYAR AND NEIL MCCABE OF HUNTERS ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE DETAILS OF A CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP OF THE COMPANY

With this announcement we would like to confirm that the provision of all of our current services within each sector will remain unchanged. We are looking forward to building on the reputation, relationships and growth that Hunters have established over the last 63 years.

Edward Keelaghan and Ian Hurlstone have relinquished their shareholdings in Hunters, which has been wholly acquired by Susan Pasint-Magyar and Neil McCabe, joint Managing Directors, who will continue to lead the multi-disciplinary practice.

Ed and Ian will continue working solely with Hunter & Partners South trading as HPS, which is and will remain an entirely separate entity to Hunters.

NOTES TO EDITORS

SUSAN PASINT-MAGYAR CV

Susan joined Hunters in 1991 and has been fundamental in leading Hunters' strategies in sustainability and regeneration in architecture, delivering an exceptional portfolio of residential, mixed-use, care and healthcare. She is joint MD of Hunters with Neil McCabe.

The many awards we have won under her guidance are a recognition of the quality of her vision in design and architecture. She has creatively led the architecture team, providing exceptional service that has generated a nationwide portfolio of clients with more than 85% repeat business.

NEIL MCCABE CV

Neil has lead the thriving Building Consultancy and Employer's Agent teams for a number of years and is now the joint MD of Hunters with Sue Pasint-Magyar. He has built his reputation on excellent client delivery, leading his teams in residential (including with housing associations and local authorities), care and mixed-use.

His knowledge of the industry, especially public sector, is reflected in the range and extent of the projects his teams deliver working with many national and regional housing providers, the NHS, commercial clients and developers.
